

1

CLAIMS

2      What is claimed is:

3            1.      A dental material delivery pad for adhesive attachment to a hand or glove,

4      comprising:

5                 a delivery pad comprising a paper board laminated with metal foil, said pad having

6      a delivery portion and an attachment portion, a top surface and a bottom surface; and

7                 a plurality of foldlines on the top surface of the delivery portion of said pad for

8      forming sidewall portions of said pad, said sidewalls being upwardly foldable along said foldlines

9      for facilitating the containment of dental material on said delivery portion of said pad.

10            2.      The delivery pad of claim 1 further including an adhesive on the bottom surface of 11      the attachment portion of said pad.

12            3.      The delivery pad of claim 2 further including an adhesive on the top surface of the 13      attachment portion of said pad.

14            4.      The delivery pad of claim 3 further including a peel-off label covering the adhesive

15      on the top portion of said pad.

16            5.      The delivery pad of claim 4 wherein said peel-off label further includes printed

17      advertising.

18            6.      The delivery pad of claim 1 wherein said foldlines are convergent to a point on the 19      edge of the pad in the direction extending away from said attachment portion.

20            7.      An arrangement of dental material delivery pads comprising a plurality of delivery

21      pads as described in claim 2, said pads being arranged in a row and each individually adhesively

22      affixed to a carrier strip.